IBM INNOVATION CENTERS

*"The 'Maximize Your Relationship' seminar has further reinforced our relationship with IBM by linking us with the right personnel to help us build, market and sell our solutions."
Angel Tan, BrainConnect Sdn Bhd*

Envision the future at our centers

Doing business on a smarter planet means collaborating and sharing insights to grow your business—and grow your bottom line. Whatever you want to achieve—whether it's becoming more profitable, expanding into new marketplaces, or providing your customers with new products—IBM can help you increase your visibility and marketplace impact and innovate to solve your clients' most challenging problems. IBM Innovation Centers are the starting point to make it all happen.

Our centers are at the heart of a greater technology community, serving as a training and support “home base” for business, technology and academic innovators—not just locally, but globally. No matter which physical location you work with, we make it easy to plug into an extensive network of global centers—with local marketing, sales and technical experts in 170 countries—for the comprehensive support needed to:

- Explore new technologies to help you achieve business goals.
- Design, market and sell the kinds of solutions that your customers demand.
- Collaborate anytime, anywhere, with customers, colleagues, business partners and suppliers.
- Close sales and extend your marketing reach.

Customized technical support

At the IBM Innovation Centers, we have architects, IT consultants and industry subject matter experts ready to provide hands-on support for your development projects, every step of the way—from collaborative problem solving to development, integration and testing. We also offer technical briefings and workshops. Our physical, virtual and intellectual resources are available to you and your team at virtually any time so you can explore innovative ideas, technical capabilities and proof points.

Expand your skills and knowledge

IBM Innovation Centers offers a wealth of educational resources and training opportunities to support IBM's industry-leading ecosystem of IBM Business Partners and other affiliates. We offer access to world-class training and networking opportunities including:

- Technical and sales courses, including instruction on emerging technologies such as cloud computing.
- Training on more than 60 IBM hardware, software and services offerings.
- Roadmaps and preparation courses for formal skills certification.
- Invitations to networking events.
- Access to meeting rooms for your own sales and marketing events.

Offerings at IBM Innovation Center

These are your centers. Use them to grow your business, close deals, build relationships-locally or globally- and take advantage of everything IBM offers to help you succeed. All from one trusted source. So if you're ready to become more competitive and collaborative, contact us today.

Connect onsite or online

Take advantage of these offerings and more by visiting any of our IBM Innovation Centers. Or you can visit the IBM Virtual Innovation Center™ Web site, which offers many of the same training and project support in a web environment.
